Sri Lanka fuel crisis turns boon for T'puram airport

SL Airlines picks KL capital as refuelling spot, brings in ₹1Cr revenue

KRISHNACHAND K @T'Puram

SRI LANKA'S fuel crisis is proving beneficial for Thiruvananthapuram airport.

SriLankan Airlines, owned by the government of the island nation, has chosen the capital as the refuelling and crew change spot for its long-distance services, bringing in revenue for the airport.

Already, two SriLankan Airlines flights from Colombo, one bound to Frankfurt in Germany and the other to Melbourne in Australia, had a stopover at Thiruvananthapuram on Friday and Saturday, roughly earning the airport ₹1 crore in revenue. Each long haul flight, having around 12 hours of flying time, needs to refill at least 120 tonnes of fuel.

Sources at the airport said the stopovers were also for cabin crew layover and technical landing purposes. "The halts would help the fuel supply units at the airport generate more income and fill the state and the Centre's coffers with tax revenue," said a source.

"More flights of SriLankan Airlines would land in the airport here for refuelling. This has led to a rise in the demand for fuel at the airport and oil firms have had to ensure more supply," said a source.

India has been a major supplier of fuel to Sri Lanka ever since crisis hit at the island nation, said the source. "Many crude oil tanker ships were directed to travel to Sri Lanka for supplying fuel. So Colombo airport has sufficient fuel storage for other international private flights and domestic operations. However, SriLankan Airlines relies on Thiruvananthapuram," the source said.

The arrival of the flights would net Thiruvananthapuram airport revenue from landing and working charges too. "Besides revenue from refuelling, the airport will also make money from landing and parking charges. We have a vast area for parking even the biggest Airbus Boeing 777. So the airport has good opportunities. More flights will come here," said the officer.

Revenue to soar

Following Covid outbreak, Thiruvananthapuram was among the list of five standby airports in India as it is close to the international air route. It was also used for refuelling and technical landing of aircraft that use the international route. During the 2018 flood in Kerala, the airport acted as facilitator to mobilise passengers.

Café to serve info on menstrual hygiene

SOWMYA MANI @Tiruchy

IN a bid to promote open talk on menstruation and give young women a forum to discuss their menstrual health and clarify doubts, NGO Gramalaya has opened a 'Menstrual Café' in the city. Instead of coffee or tea, the café at Thilalai Nagar, which was inaugurated on Menstrual Hygiene Day, will serve information on all things menstruation.

S Damodaran, Founder & CEO of Gramalaya, says they want to help every woman and adolescent girl in the country have a happy and healthy period.

"When we go around speaking about menstrual health and hygiene in various universities and schools, we saw that many girls would approach the MHM (Menstrual Health Management) educators with doubts. Most of these doubts would be related to their menstrual cycle, hygiene, and related problems. We realised that these girls don't have a proper forum to air their doubts. That's why we decided to open this café, where they can openly discuss their problems with non-judgemental educators," he said.

The café opens from 10 am to 6 pm on all days except Sunday, serves for free.

Jackfruit lovers have their task cut out

EXPRESS NEWS SERVICE @Kozhikode

"I am a hardcore fan of jackfruit since my childhood. But now, only we two elders are at home and no one is available to pluck the fruit. The fruit has ripened and the sweet fragrance is all around. One we relished the other day as the gusty wind brought it down," says Alice K of Koodaranji grama panchayat. She and her husband cannot relish the ripened jackfruit on their property as the tree is huge and there are no climbers to pluck them. The plight of Alice is shared by many jackfruit lovers in the district and in some areas, the sweet fruit falls and lies idle on the ground as no one is interested.

According to the Vegetable and Fruit Promotion Council of Kerala (VFPCCK), a very little quantity—500 kg of jackfruit and 1000 kg of tender jackfruit—had only arrived in the markets in the district this year due to the big hurdle of safely plucking the fruit. "Tall jackfruit trees are a major problem. Our attempts to market the product had met with little success. We had tried to bring in tender jackfruit into market but could get only 25-30 kg. Another issue is the very short life period of ripened jackfruit. It will remain on the tree only for a maximum of 48 hours," says VFPCCK Kozhikode district manager Rani George.

Actor Dileep has assault visuals, police tell court

P RAMDAS @Kochi

THE crime branch has confirmed that actor Dileep was in possession of the visuals of the sexual assault on the actor that took place inside a moving car in 2017. Moreover, the memory card containing the visuals that had been in the court's custody had been accessed, it has said.

"Digital data received from the phone of Dileep's brother Anoop helped conclude that the actor is in possession of either the original memory card containing the visuals or its copy," the crime branch said in the report it filed in the Kerala HC while seeking three more months to complete the probe. "The data retrieved from Anoop's phone shows photographs of the print in which second-by-second commentary of the assault visuals is described. When confronted, Anoop said he took the photographs from the office of Dileep's counsel. However, an analysis of the digital evidence showed he lied," said the report, a copy of which is with TNIE.

'Need humour, grammar, glamour in public life; MK had it all'

KARUNANIDHI rose to iconic stature by his efforts and never failed to promote Tamil language and culture, Naidu said, and urged people to learn their mother tongue but not develop an aversion to other languages. "We must support our mother tongue but must not oppose any language. There should be no imposition and no opposition to any language. Learn as many languages as possible including foreign languages," he said.

Showering encomiums on Kalaigai Karunanidhi, the V-P said, "In Kalaigai, I could see a person with a clear ideology and commitment, dedication, devotion, dynamism, and discipline to work for the welfare of the people." The V-P said he had the good fortune of interacting with Kalaigai quite closely over several decades during the course of his long journey in public life. "It was always interesting to interact with him and to argue with him.

Sometimes we used to agree to disagree. But we respected each other. In a democracy, that is an essential requirement—agree to disagree. In public life, there must be some humour along with grammar (subject) and that will add to the glamour. And Kalaigai had all the three. Kalaigai Karunanidhi was a leader who stood firmly by his political beliefs and convictions," Naidu said. In his presidential address, the CM said the statue of Kalaigai is located in between the statues of Periyar and Arignar Anna on Anna Salai. Kalaigai used to say he belongs to the Periyar school of thought and nurtured his ideals in Arignar Anna's association. So, his statue is now aptly located in between the statues of Periyar and Anna, Stalin said. The CM also recalled how Venkaiah Naidu and then PM AB Vajpayee were dismayed at the arrest of Kalaigai in 2001 and condemned it. "Venkaiah Naidu has been nurturing that relationship till now," Stalin added. Paying encomiums on Venkaiah Naidu, Stalin said he was an excellent parliamentarian and handled proceedings of the Rajya Sabha during challenging times with aplomb. So it is apt that the Vice-President is unveiling the statue of Karunanidhi, the CM said. Stalin also recalled the contribution of Karunanidhi to all sections of society and said that only because of those services, people hailed him as the architect of modern Tamil Nadu.

QR 678®- The new age solution to hair loss; revolutionizing hair restoration with a natural, proven & non-invasive approach

QR 678® is a proprietary, first in class hair fall & hair re-growth therapy, which has revolutionized the treatment of hair fall in alopecia. The therapy has an USA patent and an Indian patent, for hair growth. This therapy was invented by a team led by Dr. Debraj Shome, Celebrity Cosmetic Surgeon & Clinical Scientist & Leader, R&D Team, QR 678® and Dr. Rinky Kapoor, Cosmetic Dermatologist & Dermatologist; both are also the co-founders of The Esthetic Clinics® in India. The therapy curbs hair fall and increases the thickness, the number and density of existing hair follicles, offering greater hair coverage to the ones with alopecia. The QR678 therapy is now available at more than 500 clinics globally.

For patients struggling from hair loss, me-sotherapy is carried out using the QR 678® formulation, that are branded development elements, used by little practically pain-free administration into the scalp. Growth of hair calls for 5-8 sessions dispersed 2-3 weeks aside each. Typically, 1 ml of solution is needed per sitting, each sitting requires 15 mins, no medical center stay is needed, and every session costs between Rs. 8000 to rs 15000 per session, depending on the clinics administering the same. The overall safety and advantages of using this technique range from: significant regrowth of hair which has fallen, an enhanced youthful appearance with less grey hair, not having to worry about complications pain or side effects, plant-based solution and a non-invasive procedure, reduced recovery time and ensuring that a surgery like hair transplantation is not needed.

The QR 678® therapy works very well in androgenetic alopecia or male pattern baldness & female pattern hair loss. The therapy has also demonstrated encouraging results in post chemotherapy induced hair loss, treatment of hair conditions like seborrheic dermatitis & in immunogenic diseases like alopecia areata, hair loss because of hormonal imbalances and even stress related hair loss.

QR 678® is a non-surgical, pain-free and non-invasive procedure and the team is proud that the treatment has shown very good results in over 100,000+ patients, all over the world. The therapy is also FDA approved in 10+ countries, including India, EU, UK, Kuwait and pending approvals in other countries. A true 'Made in India' product, the QR 678® hair growth therapy is now available globally through a chain of key doctors, franchisees and distributors, with The Esthetic Clinics® team remaining the inventor and research and development team for the therapy.
